NEW YORK HERALD, WEDNESDAY, MARCH S, 1882-TRIPLE SHEET.

celled any other general of our Union armies was in his lavish expenditures of the public money, we think the country has occasion to be thankful to "Honest Abe Lincoln" for putting an end, when he did, to the unfortunate 'Pathfinder's" imperial ideas of the honors and grandeur and fuss and flummery due to his position as a military commander.

No Burden Without a Compensation .- There is no evil without a compensating good. So it is with the new Tax bill. It imposes many new burdens upon us; but at the same time it will diminish the pressure of many old ones. Hitherto the increase of taxation, municipal as well as State, has been out of all proportion to the public exigencies. The cause of this has been the shameful manner in which the public money has been appropriated and squandered by office holders. It was impossible to impose any check on their rascalities because the different legislatures and municipal bodies shared in the general corruption. The only place where a remedy could be provided was at the polls, but no one of any position in the community cared to lose time or to expose himself to disagreeable associations to protect himself against a taxation which he scarcely felt. Pesides, fortunes were made too easily for mento occupy themselves with the prospective interests of the community at any present sacrifice of their own comfort. The consequence was that none but politicians of the lowest order of character and ability were elected to fill important public offices. All this is going to be changed. The heavy burdens which the war will impose upon us in the shape of taxation will render every man alive to the importance of selecting properly qualified political representatives. From this necessity will grow up a wholesome and purer state of things. We shall learn from it the duties and responsibilities of representative institutions.

EUROPEAN INTERVENTION ON THIS CONTINENT .-The Mexican question seems to attract a very great deal of attention just now in Europe and there are as many candidates for the mo narchy of that country as there ever were aspirants for our Presidency. Maximilian, the candidate of Austria and France, leads the list; Leopold, King of Belgium, has a son of whom he is anxious to dispose; Spain has half a dozen applicants, but, despairing of the success of any one of them, has turned her ideas towards Perus with a view of making that and the other South American republics into monarchies for the accommodation of the surplus members of the royal families of Europe. Thus every day the importance of this country becomes more clearly seen; for, while this great republic is crippled, every republican form of government, the world over, is weak and in danger. Every day, then, should increase the fixed resolution of our statesmen and generals to make us soon again the strong champion of free, republican institutions, the United States of

EFFECT OF THE NEW TAX BILL ABROAD .- The schedule of taxation which has been reported by the Committee of Ways and Means will do more for us in European estimation than half a dozen victories. It will put an end to the reproach which is brought against our government of a reckless trifling with the financial resources and credit of the country, and will inspire faith in our ability to overcome the rebellion. Those abroad who are well wishers to republican institutions will see in it something more than this. They will feel that, with the pressure of heavy taxation, there will arise a sity for the exercise of greater care and discrimination in the choice of those whom we elect to administer our public affairs. This is all that has been wanting to offer to the European mind a guarantee for the stability of our institutions. With our characteristic vanity we have hitherto repudiated the justice of the conclusion. The war, however, has opened our eyes

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF CHARL-TIES AND CORRECTION.-We publish in our columns this morning a synopsis of the second annual report of the Commissioners of Public Charities and Correction. It will repay perusal. The Lunatic Asylum, Workhouse, Almshouse, Penitentiary and Island Hospital are reported to be in good condition. The earnings of criminals and vagrants have been over twenty-one thousand dollars, and this sum is a net gain to the public. The City Prison is reported much improved, and the Bellevue Hospital is in an especially excellent condition. Ward's Island has yielded a fair crop during the last year, and in general terms the number of criminals and paupers has been less than during the year preceding. We are glad to observe that the policy of retrenchment and reasonable economy has been adopted by the Commissioners, and no official feasts and junketings have swelled the items of expenditure. These institutions, rightly managed, can do much to relieve the public and to assist and comfort the poor.

MILITARY MERIT PROMPTLY REWARDED .- We are glad to find that the government has promoted to the rank of Major General such men as Burnside, Buell, Pope, McDowell, Grant, Curtis, C. F. Smith and McClernand, for their tried valor in the field, and that several of those who commanded brigades at Fort Donelson have been advanced to the position of Brigadier General. This timely reward of proved merit cannot fail in exerting an excellent effect upon the whole army, showing, as it does, that the country is prompt in its acknowledgment of the services of its brave defenders, whose patriotic efforts will soon be crowned with final victory over this unholy

THE RIGHT REVEREND BISHOP MAJOR GENERAL POLK.—This distinguished divine in epaulettes is a model Christian. Compelled to evacuate his stronghold of Columbus, on the Mississippi river, he has manifested his peculiar religion in the burning of the town. After subsisting, to the extent of their means, upon the inhabitants since August last, he shows his gratitude and charity by reducing their homes to ashes, and by turning adrift the whole community, men, women and children, as houseless fugitives from the ruins of a consuming fire. Verily a model of a bishop is this reverend vandal and

If this be true, the Tribune is on the eve of its last agony, for already it does not pay expenses. Twenty-five thousand dollars of taxes would soon

The Broadway Railroad Bill-Important Propositions in Regard Thereto-Military Appointments, &c.

ALBANY, March 4, 1862.

The Committee on Railroads met to-day on the Broadway Railroad case.

J. T. Williams, counsel for the property owners on Broadway, appeared before the committee and submit-ted amendments proposed on behalf of the opponents of the bill in case it should be reported by the committee, but not withdrawing opposition to the construction or

Parmloy, Edwin Hoyt and John Taylor—the was proposed to insert their names in place of the present proposed corporators and bind themselves to pay $1,000,000 cash for the franchise, besides paying any fair and reasonable compensation to all property holders and stage propriectors on the line, and give such bonds as the committee thought sufficient for the payment of that amount.

Mr. Ward appeared in favor of the bill, and offered an amendment on the part of the present proposed corporators, as follows:—To add five additional names as corporators—but the names are not made public; to pay the Cossoliciated Stage Company $705,000, the Knickerbocker Company $200,000, and private firms an adequate amount, provided said lines would deliver over to the railroad their stock in its present condition; to add a provision that the city may take the road at any time by paying the corporation the amount expended. The latter amendment is proposed in order to obviste the supposed unconstitutionality of making the grant perpetual.

Mr. Willisms stated that the offer he proposed was made by his clents because they deemed, if the committee thought that the public necessity should order to obviate the supposed unconstitutionality of making the grant porpoteal.

Mr. Williams stated that the offer he proposed was made by his clients because they deemed, if the committee thought that the public necessity should override private rights, that the city ought to get all it could out of such a valuable franchise. He stated that this offer was not final, but might be increased if the proposed corporators in the original bill chose to enter into competion for the franchise. His clients made the offer in good faith, and were prepared to bind themselves to pay the amount before commencing the road.

All argument was excluded by the committee, who took the proposed amendments for further consideration. It is thought the committee are favorable to some railroad, but that the present offer may destroy the chance of the original corporators obtaining the franchise.

JAMAICA, L. I., March 4, 1862.
Colonel Wood arrived here at half-past eleven o'clock this morning. He was received by the firemen, military and citizens in large numbers, at Dorland's Hôtel, where John I. Sne icker made an cloquent address, warmly wel-coming Colonel Wood. The Colonel made a brief reply, eartily thanking his fellow citizens for their kindn and attention to him. The procession then formed in line, and excerted the Colonel to Brushville, his residence, where he was welcomed home by J. J. Armstrong, in a very spir.ted speech, to which Coionel Wood, deeply touched, replied elequently and patriotically. Stewart's Band then played "Home, Sweet Home," and the proession, after giving cheer after cheer for the "Hero of the Day," turned their steps towards Jamaica again, The utmost outhusiasm prevailed all along the route.

ARRIVAL OF BUCKNER AND TILGHMAN IN BOSTON.

kim received a despatch stating that the prisoners land left Albany, and would arrive in Boston about five o'clock. United States Marshal Keyes received a similar measage. Both genticmen accordingly made all necessary preparation for their libustriess visiters. Captain McKim, who more properly had the arrang ment for their transit from the dopot to Fort Warren, procured carriages and had the steamer Argo in readiness. The intimation in last evening's papers that they would arrive caused a gathering of several hundred people, among whom was a liberal distribution of the female sex. The train arrived at quarter-past live P. M., when the crowd, in spite of the efforts of a considerable corps of policemen, pressed around the cars. Vari us sentiments of an enaphatic, and sometimes of a nature bordering on the profane, were feely uttered. After considerable waiting, for the purpose of blinding the multitude as to the point of exit of the prisoners, they came out under guard, being directed by Captain McKim and Marshal Keyes. No sooner were they so in than a rush was made for them, and for a time it was impossible to make any headway. The pressure was intense. The police appeared to the crowd, which did as much good as if their wids had been uttered to the winds. Amid the rush of people and the runbing and shouting of voices there occasionally rose a volky of hisses, which, though not vicing," were somewhat "deep," The reflects however, were not molested other than by pressure. They were at length got through the deput in front, where hacks were ready to receive them. Upon the oxiside there was another rush, which provented any progress for several minutes. Smail boys and I addes were treated without consideration; and it was no small feat for a strong man to achieve a full breath. The Generals were at length eccuried to a hack, into which they got, accompanied by the Quartermaster and Marshal. The military charge followed in another team. They were diven off with all possible speed, the crowd shouting and many for a

THE FRENCH STEAMER CATINAT.

Quite an excitement was created yesterday in the lower part of the city, especially in the vicinity of Castle Garden, caused by a report which became very general in the latter part of the day, that a man was hanging from the main yardarm of the French steamer Catinat, now lying off the Battery. The report, as it be came generally known, drew hundreds of people, young and old, to the l'attery, to satisfy themselves if such was the case. All norts and sizes of telescries, spyglasses and opera glasses were brought into requisition, and groups of tens and twenties could be seen gathered around hose who were so fortunate es to possess these optical o the distant figure, as many supposed that a man ha to the distant figure, as many supposed that a men had really been hanged on board the vessel. Some person would say, "Yes, it is a real man; I can see his face;" while another would express his indignation at such offence. One man gave it as his opinion that the oulprit must have committed a marder, or they would not ling him so publicly. While these eqinions and conjecteres were going the rounds as to the cause of the hanging and its brutality, a son of Erin stepped up to our reporter, and exclamed, very indignantly, "It is a barning shame they den't take the poor fellow down. I am sure he had time enough to be well dead since sunrise. Oh, these Frinch are awful bastes." This created roars of laughter. The excitement grew during the day until it was at fever heat. The attention of the crowd was at one time drawn to a company of soldiers who were marching down the factory, in the direction of the multitude, near the beach. The military were no sooner seen than every person somed to have made up his mind that the troops were ordered down to investigate the matter; but upon inquiry it was found that they were a company of the Eighty-third regiment, now stationed at the Park Barracks, who were marched down by their Capitain to see what was supposed to be a rather inhuman right. Occasionally the crew of the Catinat could be seen passing the portholes of the yessel, formed in procession, and all dressed in white; and every time they passed the supposed sailor who was danging in the air—the idea being that they were about to take him down.

At the time our reporter left the figure was still hanging, and crowds of people continued to come and go, expressing their strange and sometimes riliculous opinions as to what must have been the cause of so brutal a punishment. One gentleman said he had heard the culprit had shot one of the officers on Monday night, for which crime he was sentenced to be strung up yesterday morning from the yardarm.

It is scarcely necessary to inform our readers that in all Catholic countries t ould say, "Yes, it is a real man; I can see his face;

tee. THE PROJECT TO WIDEN AND EXTEND CHURCH STREET. The Street Opening Committee of the Board of Aldermon met yesterday to hear the views of the property owners and others interested in the project for w and extending Church street to Battery place. A large number of petitions were presented remonstrating egainst the measure. These were principally based on the argument that the proposed improvement would be carried out at the expense of those owning property on the route of the proposed extension. They state that many of the stores are now bringing in but haft the amount of rent which they did at this time last year, and many others are altegether unoccupied. The meeting was attended by a large number of the principal business men of the city, and was very informal and turbulent in its character, a great deal of personal feeling being exhibited. This was in a great measure owing to the smallness of the room and the fact that many of the gentlemen present would persist in speaking together, in spite of the vigorous attempts of the Chirman—Alberman Boole—to preserve order.

Mr. C. Godfart Gennish presented a petition on behalf of those in favor of the proposed improvement, and, in addition to the one presented at the former meeting, he stated that it was signed by parties owning property to the amount of property represented by those in favor of the improvement is about twelve millions of dollars. The whole amount of property represented by those in favor of the improvement is about twelve millions of dollars.

Mr. McCenny, in reply, said that if the parties owning property along the proposed route were assessed the amount collected would not be sufficient to cover the expense incurred, and that every cent assessed above Fulton street would be unjust.

Anders W. McKens, who is a large proporty owner in the lower part of the city, spoke strongly in favor of the proposed improvements.

After examining several maps, and indulging in a long docultory conversation, the meeting broke up with the understanding that another meeting will be held on the 18th inst., in the chamber of the Board of Alderma.

Mr. J. W. Mexss then said that a meeting would be called before that time, when all who are opposed to the measure are invited to attend.

arr. 3. W. starts then said that a fricting would be called before that time, when all who are opposed to the measure are invited to attend.

Mr. S. Sroux then addressed the meeting, calling on them to abandon the project altogether, and use their efforts to have University place extended to Buttery place. The expense, he said, would be about five millions

Last night the holy season of Lent was ushered in amid festivities and general joilification, in compliance with the time honored observance of Shrove Tuesday. Pan cakes were indulged in to a large extent, divers ancient be presumed, hied to the church, there to be bound in the indissoluble tie of matrimeny. Marriages are not allowed during Lont by the Catholic church, and hence originated this custom of marrying on Shrove Tuesday, which prevails to such an extent in all Catholic countries. Shrove Tuesday derives its name from a custom which used to exist in Old England, before the Reformation. All good Christians were then expected to "shrive" themselves of all sinfulness, by making a full confession to their pastors before the actual beginning of the Lenten fact.

to their pastors before the actual beginning of the Lenten fact.

To-day being Ash Wednesday is the beginning of Lent. The prefix "Ash" is derived from the habit of blessing ashes on this day, which is done by the Catholic priests and over the world. The fast will continue for forty days, and will conclude with the selemn services of Hoty Week and Easter Sunday. The regulations this year are exactly the same as these which obtained last year. There will be justicular services to-day at the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches.
